

SWEDISH DOCTORS PROVIDE SCHOOL PHYSICALS IN TUKWILA

Students in Tukwila — a community identified by Swedish's Global to Local Initiative — were provided with back-to-school physicals and sports physicals as a community service in support of Swedish's commitment to promote health and wellness in our community.

On Aug 20, in partnership with the Tukwila School District and Community Schools Collaboration, seven Swedish Cherry Hill residents and three Swedish family medicine physicians spent five hours at Showalter Elementary School to perform 42 free back-to-school and sports physicals. Sam Cullison, M.D., Joe Shamseldin, M.D., and Carrie Rubenstein, M.D., led the team of residents: Alyssa Barto, M.D., Thuy Do, M.D., Daniel Rivas, M.D., Adrianna Mickelson, M.D., Anita Hernandez, M.D., Daniel Rivas, M.D., and Alex Kipp, M.D.

On Aug. 27, Swedish Medical Group physicians Chad Abbott, M.D., and Jon McBride, M.D., performed 38 back-to-school physicals and sports physicals as part of the Tukwila Community Health Fair at Showalter Elementary School. Swedish also donated 200 backpacks and school supplies. The success of these community outreach events allowed Tukwila families to be prepared for the first day of school.

Special thanks to: Sherry Williams, Swedish Community Affairs Director; Briana Jarrett, Swedish Volunteer; and to Camille Demetrio, R.N., and Theresa Bradley, R.N., graduates from Bellevue College, for their work at the event.
